OATLEY RUGBY CLUB

ANNUAL REPORT 1989

PRESIDENTS REPORT

Well, we finally did it!! The Oats have finally won a competition. But not just one. Our club has collected three competitions this year.

Firstly the under 9's won out with their end of year carnival and took the shield as the best team in their age group in the district. Once again, notable performances were recorded by Ryan Coates who scored 222 points for the year. He scored 51 tries but could manage only 9 goals. David Campese eat your heart out!!

Our under 7's, whilst not as successful as the 9's, had an enjoyable season I am led to believe, even though at times the boys probably thought about taking up water polo with the amount of rain we had.

Laurie Yeomans and Bruce Battishall have done a great job with the boys and I congratulate them on their dedication to the development of junior rugby.

Congratulations to our seniors for competition victories in the Barraclough and Blunt Cups. It was a hard, long, wet, and confused season but we won out with patience and a willingness to get our games on at whatever venues were available. In this regard, our club wishes to acknowledge Bonnie West, President of the South Hurstville Royals Rugby Club for her and her clubs generosity in allowing us to use Carrs Park for all but two of our home games. This was a significant factor in us winning a premiership, the first since our Radford Cup win in 1982.

The foundation was laid by our continuity, which kept us playing and enjoying our rugby. The finale was the acceptance by our first grade captain Gary Matthews of the Barraclough Cup on Grand Final Day. This was the capping of a truly great day in Oatley Rugby's history, and one which will be remembered for many a long year. All the hard work and inconveniences of the season had paid off.

Special thanks must go to all club officials, coaches and managers for the manner in which they carried out their duties. Well done on a 1st class effort.

To our supporters who put up with the mud and slush of the year, thanks for hanging in there, and to remember the looks of joy on your faces on Grand Final day, it was worth it.

With these premierships under our belt, let's hope we don't have a mass exodus from our senior ranks. Let's go into the 1990's with the reputation of being winners, not just also rans.

It is rumored that Barry Stumbles is retiring. This is false, he will be back next year. One competition win is not enough for Barry, he wants more.

Recruiting has already commenced with quite a number of new faces promised for next season.

Well done and let's double up in the 1990's.

Laurie McMartin
President

JUNIORS REPORT

1989 was generally a disappointing year for the mini's, mainly due to our inability to field an Under 8 team.

Once again it was difficult to recruit new players and a big effort must be made next season to ensure that we can enter teams in the Under 7, 8 and 10 age groups.

UNDER 7

Bruce Battishall did a great job with these boys and they won more than their fair share of games. Matthew Battishall and Andrew Wing played well all season with Guy Lingard also scoring plenty of tries. New boys Patrick Cass and Michael Mansfield showed steady improvement while Nathan Kjoller was the team's best tackler. Nathan and Aron Pateman will both remain in the Under 7's next season and should be real stars.

UNDER 9

Although they lost a few games, the Under 9's came good when it counted and went through the end-of-season carnival day undefeated to win the Under 9 Shield.

In all, the team won 15 games, drew 2 and lost 2 scoring 508 points to 160.

Ryan Coates had another big season scoring 222 points from 51 tries and 9 goals--making a total of 458 points in the past two seasons.

Chris Wing and Martin Allen again played strongly scoring 96 and 82 points respectively while James Yeomans, Sam Ramulu and Matthew Valoulis proved to be very strong in the forwards.

Chris Norris was the team's great improver in his first season of rugby while Matthew Gemmell and Matthew Kjoller were excellent team members all season.

Congratulations to those boys who represented Southern Districts against Easts-Randwick.

Next year we move to the Under 10 competition and 15-a-side full-field rugby so we need to make a big effort to recruit new players before the start of the season.

Lawrie Yeomans

BARRACLOUGH REPORT

The 1989 Rugby Season was a very satisfying time for me, not only because we won the minor and major premierships or because it was my first year in a coaching role, but because I had the opportunity to be associated with a tremendous bunch of guys.

I have said many times to the team, and I would like to take this opportunity to repeat it, if one takes the time to go through the 1st Grade side individually, it is apparent that the "Ratbag" element which is inevitably found in Rugby teams is not an ingredient of this team.

I have also said many times to the team that Rugby is a very personal thing and that it should be approached in a very intimate and passionate manner. This team, after a rocky start, took this attitude and the results were forthcoming.

It is very hard for me to single out players for special mention because the contribution of all players, for various reasons, was significant. However, I feel that this report is the forum to express, "however briefly", my personal feelings of individual's contributions.

It would be obvious to all and sundry that consistent outstanding performers were Ben Manu, Rob Crichton and Gary Matthews. Also, the contribution of Nigel Corkin and Murray Smeed could not possibly be appreciated by anyone more than myself.

The sobering influence and the consistent performances of players such as Garth Peterson, Dave Johannson, Stuart Larkin and Andrew Cracknell had a tremendous influence on the players around them.

I would like to give special mention to a player whose attitude to winning and determination to hold down a 1st Grade position was second to none. Congratulations Andrew Sadler.

Players such as Luke Johnson, Mick Waudby, Barry Stumbles and Dave Fitzmaurice should be commended for their consistent performances and reliability both on and off the field.

At this stage I would like to thank both Charlie Palmer and Andrew Hudson for their performances during the season and would mention that Charlie was sadly missed on Grand Final Day. Also front rowers John Palmer, Victor Szecko and especially Keiran Campbell (who missed out on Grand Final Day)--thank you.

Thank you also to Paul "Jockey" Gwilliam for your help during the year, and to late arrival Matt Duff for your contribution at the business end of the season, it was very much appreciated.

This team, after having won its first two games and losing its next two games, went on to finish the season with 16 straight victories. Even though some of these wins were a bit scratchy, it is a record that any team, in any grade, should be very proud of. I am sure that had the weather not been so inclement in the early part of the season, some results would have been much more convincing.

Our intention was always to move the ball wide and be on Grand Final Day this was not possible as the ball commodity that we had very little of. However, Rugby (as said many times before) is also about stopping the other from scoring points. It is history now that this is exactly what the Oatley Team did practically all day.

All players who contributed to our 12-10 victory could be praised too much. I would like to close this report by thanking everybody who helped me during the year, especially Manager, Craig Fear, and Gary Gainsford who were of tremendous help to me.

To my team, I would like to remind them of something I said many times throughout the season--"we do it for our team, we do it for our Club, we do it for ourselves and we do it for you." I can be well satisfied that you have done it all, and be proud of yourselves as I am of you.

STOCKDALE REPORT

It is rather unfortunate that the well-worn cliché "if only we had ..." describes this season's results for Second Grade.

The season started off full of promise and with a lot of confidence, unfortunately, we failed to live up to potential and deliver the goods at the end of the season.

Despite finishing out of the money at the business end of the season, there were still a number of memorable moments throughout the year, along with some memorable characters in the team.

Undoubtedly, our best performance was against CBOBS on their windswept ground, which would have been more suited to car parking than football (although Mark Mackenzie might disagree with this). Ironically, the training session preceding this match was the only night all year when all 15 selected players turned up (a subtle message).

Our front row, while not being very good looking, was certainly effective and well suited to the top grade. Not every club has the luxury of playing the Sub-District's Hooker in their Second Grade side.

The spectators and players could always tell where Peter "Boxhead" Geddes had been entertaining himself on Friday night as the contents of his night out were regularly regurgitated at some stage during the second half of each match.

Once again the back row was our area of greatest depth throughout the year. Much to my delight most of the players in these positions enjoyed a stint in First Grade, before incurring Max Currie's wrath on selection nights, and always performed well in Seconds.

Mick Ference was very keen to show the boys--and Max--his versatility by constantly begging for goal kicking duties. When appointed to this role, he displayed talents similar to those of his weekend golf game--a number of attempted goals revealed the same accuracy as his driver shots off the first tee.

In the backline we didn't suffer from our usual lack of depth and fielded some good combinations.

Paul "Jockey" Gwilliam and Murray Harmes admirably filled the halfback role with Harmsie also showing his skills by teaming up with Geoff Agius and Dom in the centres. At 5/8, Matt Duff showed that he will certainly be a player of the future and displayed all the skills of a potential First Grader.

That "Lean-Mean-Talking-Machine", Jimmy Hurst, showed the benefits of being let out of Mummy's apron strings and entering into cohabitation at Bexley North with some very out-of-character performances. Astonished gasps were heard along the sidelines when Hurstie was seen to pull off an effective head-on tackle during one game.

Once again, Wayne "Bandit" Lanham was Second Grade's top try scorer which was obviously a direct result of his full-on, committed, 'no frills' attitude towards fitness and training (maybe to avoid developing a girth of similar proportions to his brother).

On behalf of all the Second Grader's, I would like to congratulate both First and Third Grade on their premie successes this year--First Grade's attitude towards training their matches was outstanding. Both Max Currie and Sciberras deserve full credit for the results they were able to achieve.

Seconds had a number of Captains appointed at various stages during the season, however, the two that deserve most praise are our crash-tackling fullback who, like Mussolini, lead his team from the rear, and also to Garth (I-don't-wanna-be-cap but-if-you-want-me-to-I-will-and-I'll-let-Ged-do-all-the-tal Peterson, who took over the captaincy after a number of weeks and led the side extremely well.

Despite the hassles with the wet weather and co-operative attitude of Paul Dalton, our Club Administrator noted to smile once or twice during the year and, once a year, he deserves to be congratulated for his organisation.

On behalf of the players, thanks to Paul "Chang" Langdon for his work in getting all the players signed on, dressed, packed down, strapped, chafed, stripped, cleaned, showered and bummed before and after the game.

Finally, while the overall results may have been disappointing for the season, I certainly enjoyed coaching Second Grade, as there was never a dull moment and I would hope that the players not only enjoyed themselves as well, but also learnt a lot.

BLUNT REPORT

Read it in "The Herald" was a phrase I used frequently throughout the 1989 season. The small print that appeared in that publication on Sunday, 17 September, capped a long, demanding, eventful, strenuous and ultimately successful year--OATLEY 3 defeated KNOX 0.

The long journey in pursuit of the Blunt Cup began some time in February with a disturbingly small number of players at pre-season training.

This trend continued throughout the trials but, just like typical Rugby players, these activities were avoided at all costs.

Then, after having overcome the worries caused by a lack of playing personnel, for the next 2 months the rain played havoc with training, game organisation and grounds, etc.

The season eventually began with an away game against SHOBS followed by our first and only game at Evatt Park. We won our first 2 games but, for the majority of the season, the Thirds could not string 3 wins together.

We first encountered Knox in Round 4 and they revealed, in a manner for which they are renown, their most admirable qualities of fair play, humility and sportsmanship. Little did people realise that on another 2 occasions Oatley were to wipe the cocky smiles off the faces of the St Ives pretty boys.

As the season wore on I was hopeful of gaining the last semi-final spot behind Chatswood, Leo's and Knox. This is exactly the way it turned out after Oatley had won the last 4 games in a row, including a memorable victory over Knox in the last round--8-4. They were the competition favourites and it was a sudden death game for us. The old man of 3rd Grade, Craig "Fizza" Fear, had a big game and we sneaked into the semis.

Our eventual success was largely due to the failure of the Seconds to make the final four. They lost 3 or 4 very close games which would have meant a semi spot--but that's football.

Players such as Steve "Linesy" Lines, Paul Fitzmaurice and Terry Ryan who were returning through the ranks remained in Thirds (unless needed by Max in Firsts).

The late arrival of Jim Qio and several judicious selection decisions meant the Thirds entered the semi's with a competitive side.

It was this stage of the year that I found the most exhausting and, at times, unpleasant and traumatic. There were times when I wished Seconds had made the semi's and our season was over. Selecting sides to play the semi's was very difficult and lots of things had to be considered, I was inundated with advice and suggestions all of a sudden--a lot of which obviously contradicted each other. I would personally like to thank all those people who made this stage of the year easier for me by their acceptance of decisions and co-operation.

Our semi-final and final wins were not too dramatic. The Thirds were the better side on both occasions and things seemed to be going our way. Key injuries to opposition players helped our cause, especially in the final when Chatswood lost their Hooker and Captain--their driving force. It was in this game that Oatley demonstrated its will to win with a great push-over try scored by Keith Bennett against a scrum that had been dominant all year.

The grand final was a tough, dour encounter where neither team dominated for any length of time. Glen "Oyster" Derwent saved his best game for the end and made us many yards when we needed it most. At one stage of the game after Knox had been applying a lot of pressure their Captain, Richard Powell, indicated rather vocally that "Oatley are gone, the game is ours". It wasn't his message that spurred us on, we had outlasted. With the 3 points provided by Paul Fitzmaurice, the Blunt Cup was ours. As I mentioned a few weeks earlier, the gaining of a premiership is something that can never be taken away from you.

Finally, thanks to all 58 players who played Thirds this year and, to the 20 players on the premiership roll, WE DID IT!!!!!!!

CLUB CAPTAINS REPORT

Well, what a year. A long and rain interrupted season was culminated with a unique double in OATLEY'S rugby history. Two premierships, one in firsts and the other in thirds enabled the season to extend longer and the OATLEY pub's cash register to work overtime.

Congratulations go to every player who played throughout the year in either the BARRACLOUGH or BLUNT cups and a special mention to all those players who were not in the grand final line up's.

The emergence of several talented young players combined with the old stalwarts enabled success both on and off the field. Players such as MATT DUFF, LUKE JOHNSON and ROB CRICHTON added the much needed spark and enthusiasm to combine with the experience of SMEE, CORKIN, MATTHEWS, MANU and with the quiet refined match plans of coach CURRIE, Oatley were carried to their first premierships since 1982.

Meanwhile the BLUNT CUP pretenders were being carried week in week out by the tremendous efforts of ANTHONY CRAIG, MATT BALKWELL, PAUL O'ROURKE and KEITH BENNETT, not forgetting the calculated game plans of coach SCIBERRAS.

The off field functions were highlighted by the first annual OATLEY GOLF DAY at the Illawarra country club ably organized by MICK FERENEC and doubtfully won on a countback by LINESY. The only casualty of the day was RAGS who copped a well directed full blooded drive by BOY BYERS. The black tie annual ball was another rip tearer, the only person who didn't enjoy himself was the cleaner the next day. The highlight never to be surpassed was the fantastic performance of ISSI and JIM with the Fiji connection singing the house down.

Of course the Oatley party on wheels made the Macquarie Uni's ordinary effort at entertaining a great success. The Briars function and MAX'S gourmet garden party provided many a player and supporter with Sunday morning sore heads.

Like all clubs, OATLEY just doesn't run itself and many thanks must be passed on to LAURIE, SCHOIE, SCIB and KEVIN DUCE. Teams ably managed by FIZZA, CHANGA, KEITH ADAMS and ROSS

WILLO ensured that things ran smoothly on match day. To MIKE and HELEN HEAL, LEONIE, ANNE BROWN and any others who helped behind the scenes, your tireless efforts were greatly appreciated.

Special mention to PAUL O'ROURKE, SMUDGE, OYSTER and DUNNY for their efforts in preparation on match days. All in all 1989 will be hard to beat both on and off the field. Rumours have it that several members of the original LEGENDS have hung up their boots and taken to carving up the golf course instead of the opposition. We will see what happens in the new season.

Anyway catchya in 1990
regards
"HURSTY"

RICHARDSON REPORT

When you have 5 draws out of 17 games you really can't expect to get to semi-finals. The measure of success is not always recorded through victories.

Together with co-coach Kevin Duce, we took on the job of organising the "Fighting Fours". Even though we didn't score many points our defense was always very hard to penetrate. Our leading try scorer with two was Brett "the Boy" Schofield, and even though missing games to give other players a game, Brett always performed well.

Our forwards were always in the thick of the action with our front row combination of Theo "the Doctor" Poulos and Rob Cameron, Dave Chamberlain and Paul "I'm Linesy's brother-in-law" Carragher always providing possession for a mixed bag of talented backs. Kevin Duce was our linch pin to a set of backs that varied each week and twice on Saturdays. To his credit he provided the stability needed to hold things together. Players like wingers: Bob Fox, Gerard Flynn, centres Mal Fry and Peter Lanham probably didn't achieve the potential they are capable of and at times showed bursts of speed and skill.

Later in the season we had an under 17's connection join us with Michael Harrington (No8), Chris Herbert (Centre) and Brett Gallagher (Fullback).

These three young men have big futures ahead of them on the rugby field if they stick with it. They blended in well with the old heads and I am sure that we all have valued their enthusiasm and presence. I hope they stick with the club in 1990.

The most pleasing aspect of the "FF's" was the harmony within the team that was created as the season wore on. There was always a grin of satisfaction after games. They were always standing by as reserves and to encourage the other grades in their endeavours.

The highlights of the year were our game against Macquarie Uni at Hurstville Oval, a very tough game on a great ground, and the last round 3-0 victory over arch rivals Knox at Barra-Bruil. What a game, what a finish.

I would like to thank all those players who took the field in the fours and especially Co coach Kevin Duce and team manager Ross Williamson for a job well done.

CRICKET

We came, we played, we lost, we went up the pub.

This concludes my report.

Peter Lanham
Captain

PS. Season 1988/89 proved to be our most disappointing since our entry into the competition four years ago. Despite the loss of our star bowler from the previous season, Dave Harrington, we had gained several competent players from the Peakhurst South Cricket Club, in Ian Kennedy, Dave Mayer and Bret Shanahan and we were expecting to walk away win the premiership, particularly after dropping down to fifth grade.

A win against Oatley West in the 2nd round was soon forgotten as we dropped our next four games, the first two of which we virtually had won. These two games eventually proved the difference between making and missing the semis.

It was during these losses that the spirit fell away and we found ourselves only fielding seven to eight players. Some further recruiting in the form of John Maley, Alex Henderson and Glen Abbott together with some determined efforts from regulars Wayne Smith, Brad Smith and Michael Waldron saw a spirited comeback either side of Xmas. In this period we beat Riverwood, Peakhurst South and Mortdale R.S.L. (all at that stage were in the top four) to give us some hope of reaching the semis. Unfortunately we were not good enough to win the games that counted and we ended up finishing a disappointing second last.

Special congratulations should go to the players who slugged out the season. Its easy to keep keen when the team is winning but when any team looses and several players toss it in, its a real test of character for any player to keep turning up each week and give his all.

Whilst overall the team effort was disappointing there were some fine individual performances. Firstly, new boys Bret Shanahan, Alex Henderson (finally a wicket-keeper who can take catches from the captain's bowling), Dave Mayer, Ian Kennedy, Glen Abbott and John Maley all proved to be great team men and hopefully they will figure prominently in future seasons.

The conversion of No. 10 batsman (for want of a better word) Michael Waldron to opener also proved a real bonus. Michael once again won the G.R.P.D.C. Association Wicket-Keeping award as well as once again taking out our fielding award. Congratulations Michael.

Wayne Smith once again had a great season. Wayne won the batting and bowling aggregates with 285 runs and 24 wickets, to be far and away our best performer.

Congratulations are also in order to our leg-spinner Matt Balkwell who with an average of 10.05 per wicket won the bowling average, and also to our most consistent batsman Peter Lanham for taking out the batting average with 28.14.

May season 1989-90 prove to be the big one.
