LEARNING TO LIVE

Ways in which your child's progress
may be assisted

1. Full and punctual attendance
2. Conscientious, self-directed effort
3. Teacher/parent co-operation and discussion
4. Interest in your school and its activities
5. Encouraging your child to be a reader.
6. Praise for any successes and effort rather than blame for failure.

OATLEY WEST INFANTS SCHOOL

PROGRESS REPORT

The process of learning is continuous throughout the life of the individual. In this report we recognise that no two children are alike and that they mature physically, emotionally, socially and intellectually at different rates.

Oatley West infants' School aims at advancing each child in accord with his abilities; parents should also evaluate their child's progress as an individual and not in comparison with others.

Dear Parents,

This report is our evaluation of your child in his/her school subjects and in the development of those traits and qualities that make good citizens.

Individual growth, rather than a comparison with the achievements of other members of the class, is the principal basis for evaluating the work of each pupil. Your concern should be, "Is my child doing as well as he/she can?"

My teachers and I will be pleased to discuss this document with you at any time but it would be appreciated if you would ring the school first. An interview will then be arranged so as to avoid undue interruption to classroom routine.

KINDERGARTEN REPORT

1976

Dear Parents,

Growth potential is in every individual, but each child develops in his own unique way. He brings to his first educational experience his individual background, needs, capacities and interests.

The kindergarten year emphasises educational experiences that promote group living and develop individual potentials - experiences that will result in more effective, more satisfying and more responsible living.

In the Infants' Department assessment is made not by comparison with others but in relation to each pupil's own ability and previous progress. Therefore Merit Scale relates to each child's progress as an individual rather than his position in class.

J. Eyles,
Mistress.
